Latest News: Shreveport-Bossier African American Chamber of Commerce

Shreveport-Bossier African American Chamber of Commerce Awards $23,000 in RISE Grants to Local Businesses

The Shreveport-Bossier African American Chamber of Commerce recently gathered at Cassandra's on the River for its RISE Grant Presentation Lunch, celebrating the achievements of its 1st Quarter RISE Grant recipients and the power of investing in local businesses.

The event brought together entrepreneurs, community leaders, and business advocates to recognize the resilience, innovation, and determination of small business owners who are turning their ideas into impact and driving economic growth throughout the region. Thanks to funding provided through Caddo Parish ARPA funds, the Chamber awarded a total of $23,000 in grants to local businesses, providing critical resources to help entrepreneurs expand their operations, create opportunities, and strengthen the local economy.

The Chamber also extends a special thank you to Representative Steven Jackson for his advocacy and support in securing funding opportunities that continue to benefit the business community.

As the Chamber celebrates this quarter's recipients, it also looks ahead to the future. RISE Grant applications are now open for the upcoming quarter, offering another opportunity for local businesses to invest in their growth and become part of a network committed to empowering entrepreneurs and building stronger communities.

Louisiana AgriAquaculture Center of Excellence Hosts First-Ever Full-Day Aquaponics Immersive Training

The Louisiana AgriAquaculture Center of Excellence (AACE) recently celebrated an exciting milestone by hosting its first-ever six-hour Introduction to Aquaponics Immersive Training Course at its state-of-the-art facility located at 651 Leson Court in Harvey, Louisiana.

Established in January 2025 through the support of Congressman Troy A. Carter, Sr., and located in Jefferson Parish Council District 2, the Center continues to serve as a hub for agricultural innovation, workforce development, and sustainable food production throughout Louisiana.

More than 25 participants from across the state spent the day gaining hands-on experience and learning the fundamentals of aquaculture and aquaponics, including fish production and water quality management, plant cultivation in aquaponic systems, system operation and maintenance, farm management best practices, and sustainable food production techniques.

The immersive training provided participants with practical knowledge that can be applied to their own farms, entrepreneurial ventures, educational programs, and future careers in agriculture, aquaculture, environmental sustainability, and Louisiana's growing blue economy.

This inaugural course represents just the beginning of AACE's commitment to expanding educational and workforce development opportunities that equip Louisianans with the skills needed for the jobs of tomorrow while strengthening local food systems and supporting economic growth across our state.

ScaleUp 360 is a six-month business growth program for Monroe and surrounding area residence; designed to equip small business owners with the tools, strategy, and support needed to sustainably grow and scale their businesses.

The program serves a small cohort of 10-15 businesses and combines monthly two-hour group sessions led by subject matter experts with one hour of individualized one-on-one coaching per participant each month. Coaching is customized to each business and aligned with the monthly focus areas to ensure practical application and measurable progress.

In addition, participants gain access to a monthly "Power Hour," an added-value session featuring expert speakers who provide insight on specialized topics, industry trends, and real-world strategies that further strengthen business capacity and exposure to key resources.

Throughout the program, participants strengthen their foundation for growth, conduct meaningful market and industry research, refine their branding and positioning, prepare for government contracting opportunities, build teams and systems for scaling, and develop business continuity and risk planning strategies.

By the end of ScaleUp 360, each business walks away with clear strategic growth goals, defined key performance indicators, stronger market positioning, documented systems, and a business continuity blueprint; ensuring they are not just operating, but building a resilient and scalable enterprise.
